Juniors

The junior class of 1987 has gone through many changes together. Six of the original kindergarten class still remain. They are Bridget Bullington, Ted Garner, Bruce Brennemann, Clay Rothwell, Mitzi Ring, and Dia Lacy. Over the years many new students have entered the class making the junior class one of the largest contributions; adding personality and character to the class. All twenty members have become the best of friends. Many teachers here at HHS will agree that this is true, because in class, juniors can't stop talking to each other! Even though they tend to talk too much, juniors have a serious side too. This year as every other, juniors were in charge of putting on prom. They worked hard to make it the best prom ever. Also with more elective classes available, juniors are busy learning and making decisions for the future and providing leadership for the underclassmen. With all these things going for them, how can the juniors lose? Class officers are President, Bruce Brennemann; Vice President, Lori Frost; Treasurer, Mitzi Ring; Secretary, Mary Westover; News Reporter, Eric Young; Student Council, Karel Douglass. Watch out seniors, here we come!

Jay headed for some "heavy" work on the sophomores homecoming decorations.

It has been unanimously decided that being a sophomore definitely isn't easy. With such classes as biology and, everyone's favorite, geometry, to contend with, how could it be easy? Sophomores also discovered the wonderful world of magazine sales. No matter how difficult a sophomore's life can be, this year's class was able to get a handle on any situation the school could send their way. The fearless leaders were President, Kelli Cleveland; Vice President, Jay Herman; Secretary, Kendra Schroder; Treasurer, Merla Ring; and Student Council, Terry Connealy.

Freshmen

Even though the Freshmen didn't have very far to move from the junior high to the senior high, there was still a great change in the way things were run. The class officers being well organized and having the makings of a group of successful leaders lead their class through a productive and successful year. This year was their first introduction to the ever-popular money making project. They sold raffle tickets for a cake to be given away during a volleyball game. Although classes such as typing, algebra, and others are tough, the freshmen took a "laid-back - easy going" attitude that helped carry them through some tough situations. The class had a great year and they look forward to their sophomore year at HHS.

What's special about the eighth graders?

They come in all shapes, sizes, and styles with different ideas, goals, and personalities. The eighth graders can always be seen hanging around together. Staying close, having fun, and sharing great times are obvious eighth grader qualities. They proved their artistic talent by winning the poster contest during homecoming week. This class also had great leadership potential as they set an example for the seventh graders. Eighth grade officers are: President - Aaron Funk; Vice President - Kristi Kimble; Secretary - Tracy Merrihew; Treasurer - Chris Brown; News Reporter - Sarah Westover; Student Council - Anne Dredla.

Aaron Manning, Tracy Merrihew, Lorena Chick, Brian Brennemann, and Anne Dredla practice with Mr. Naylor for the Christmas concert.

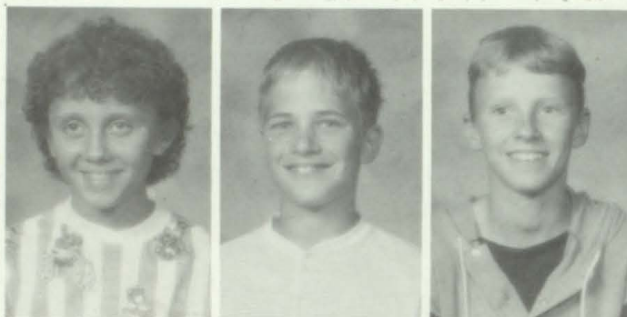

Seventh Grade

As the seventh graders stepped into HHS they encountered new events. It was a time for adjustments as they met new faces, joined organizations, and became active in sports. They were one of the smallest classes that has ever entered HHS, consisting of nine students. The theme for homecoming was commercials and when the class carried out their theme "Energize It" they won first place. Mrs. Brown described them as a rowdy and busy class. For the seventh graders it was not only "a year of celebration" but they have many years left in which to celebrate! The seventh grade officers are: President - Bryon Powles; Vice-President - Robert Dyer; Secretary - Jodi Smith; Treasurer - Lorena Chick; News Reporter - Justin Rudloff; Student Council - Chris Kime.

Faculty

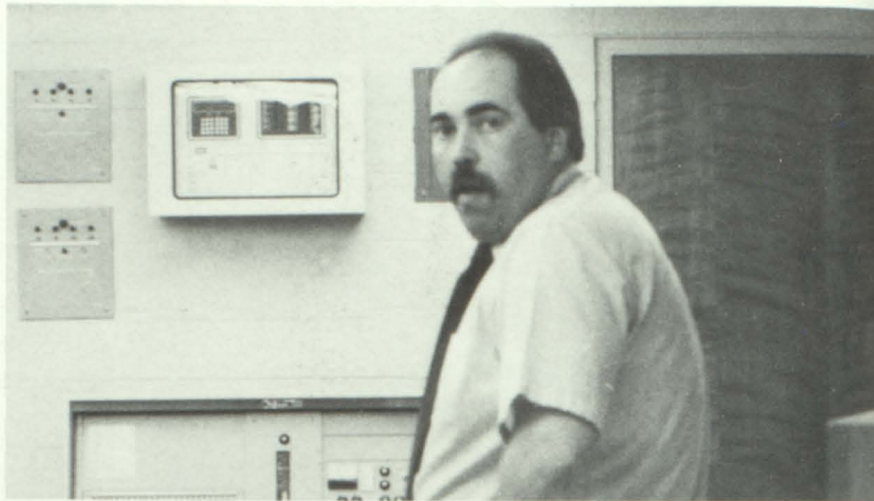

The HHS Faculty has really gone along way this year. If it weren't for the constant reminder of how important notes, homework, and of course the tests are, the HHS students probably wouldn't be where they are today. This year's faculty has surely kept the students on their toes.

Joy Brown teaches Biology, Advanced Biology, and Jr. High Science. She has also been the seventh grade sponsor for eight years, and the HAFA sponsor for seven.

Sheryl Carson teaches Home Ec., Independent Living, Art, and is the new FHA sponsor. She is new to the faculty this year.

Kathy Delisle teaches Speech, Spanish, Special Education, Geography, and is the librarian. She has been the speech team sponsor for six years and is the senior class sponsor in Mr. Fishers absence. Cliff Ellis teaches Chemistry, Geometry, Algebra 1, and Computer 1 and 2. He has also taken Mr. Fishers Physics class. He has been the Student Council sponsor for seven years and the sophomore class sponsor for twenty years.

Kent Frost teaches woods, the Drivers Ed. class and Mechanical Drawing. He is the eighth grade sponsor.

This year was a year to celebrate with the great service the administration and staff have given to HHS. Principal Walt Dyer has been with HHS for five years. Mr. Leroy Bruce has served as superintendent for ten years. Mr. Gail Fisher has served as guidance counselor and teacher for the past eighteen years. However due to an illness Mr. Fisher was absent this past year. Mrs. Sickelka took over during his absence. The school board was kept busy through the year taking care of business as this was the year for the Northwest Evaluation. The staff is still working hard. Secretary, Sandy Yorges has been with HHS for eight years, first working as a receptionist and now as secretary. Charles Evans has been school custodian for eleven years. Dave Bogner has been working here for the past two years. The cooks are kept busy planning and cooking school lunches. After leaving HHS as head cook in the spring of 1977, Jo Davis has returned. Bev Ellis and Marjorie Rice have been working at HHS for fifteen and eighteen years respectively. The faculty and students wish to thank the administration and staff for their helpful service over the past years. They have done a great job keeping HHS in running order.

Student Council

The HHS Student Council livened up everyone's spirits this year. As usual, they were in charge of the homecoming festivities. Their wild and crazy dress up days, including career day and toga day, were only the beginning. They also organized all of the hall decorations and the crowning of the king and queen. Some of the other things they did this year were decorating the school's Christmas tree and keeping the pop machine in working order. Besides the pop machine as a money making project members made and sold their own activity calanders. Student Council officers were: President- Bruce Brennemann; Vice President- Kristi White; Secretary- Karel Douglass; Treasurer- Jason Funk; News Reporter- Lori Frost.

Honor Society

Once again, Honor Society sold wholesale pizza kits as a money making project. It was well worth their time because they were able to invest their money in one two-hundred dollar and one one-hundred dollar scholarship for two senior members. They inducted six new members this past year; Bruce Brennemann, Bruce Ferguson, Jason Funk, Karel Douglass, Dia Lacy, and Mary Westover. Honor Society officers were: President - Kristi White, Vice President - Mick Connealy, Secretary - Margie Lage, Treasurer - Peggy Douglass, News Reporter - Mary Westover.

Journalism

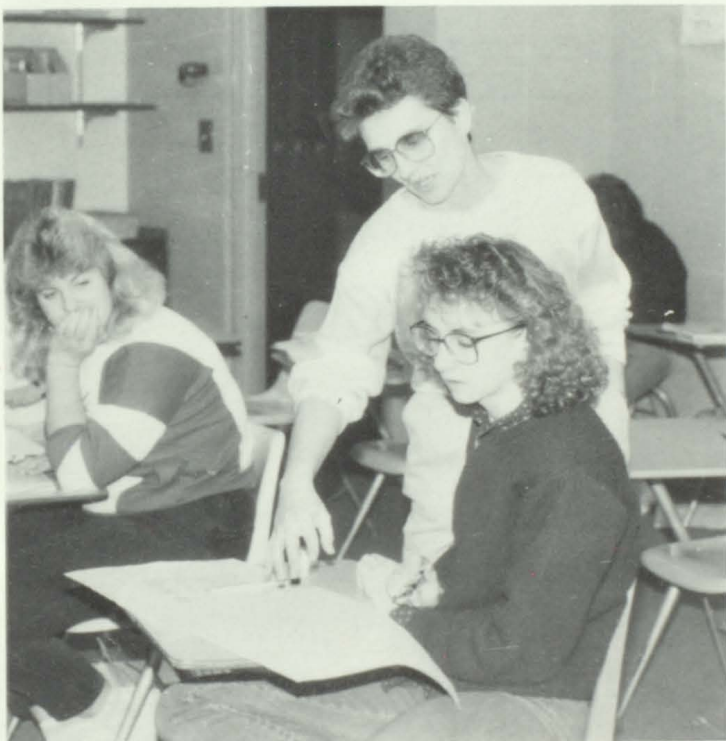

Though the Spotlight hasn't always been gold and glory, it has very much become so. The Spotlight started four years ago, printed on a copy machine in the school. Since 1983, the paper has been taken to the Alliance Times Herald for printing. During the second year of production, the crew for the Spotlight entered the Nebraska High School News Paper contest, which Lori Frost received honorable mention. Lori Frost placed fourth at the journalism workshop in Fort Hays the summer of 1987. The order of information on each of the pages of the paper is recent school news on the first page, opinions the second, school sports the third, and recent or not so recent school news on the fourth. Shown as the crew of the Spotlight from left to right is Ladonna Chick, Merla Ring, Eileen Boots, Shawn Arrants, Mary Westover, Trent Smith, David Dubs, Margie Lage, advisor Marina Garner, Peggy Douglass, Johnnie Bacon, editor Lori Frost, Kim DeBoer, photographer Wayne Boots, Monti Evans, and Lisa Crouse not shown.

Marina Garner and Lori Frost attended a workshop at Fort Hays in Kansas the summer of '87 to learn more about the who and what of journalism. The editors for the annual staff also attended the three day rally.

Annual

Being on the annual staff takes a lot of ingenuity and imagination. In which this year's crew of the annual staff has plenty of. Yet, it was only a year ago that the annual was started as a credit class. Each student has one or two pages to design and write copy for, placing a lot of responsibilities on them. When the deadlines approach, the annual room is full of chaos and turbulence with the planning of layouts, writing of unique copy, and deciding which pictures would look best on that page. Though the staff has its ups and downs, the end result is well worth the hard work. The crew of the annual shown above from left to right was Bridget Bullington, Kristi White, Mitzi Ring, Shawn Arrants, Karel Douglass, Michelle Ruess, advisor Marina Garner, Dia Lacy, photographer Wayne Boots, Margie Lage, Lori Frost, editor Peggy Douglass, Ted Garner, Jennifer Ogren, Lisa Crouse, Steven Walters, and Mary Westover. Sharma Luft and Annie Luft not shown.

HAFA

The Hyannis Association of Female Athletes traveled to Lincoln to watch the State Volleyball Tournament. They also watched the University of Nebraska volleyball team play against Missouri. HAFA sold raffle tickets and held two sloppy joe feeds to raise money this year. Officers were Kristi White, President; Bridget Bullington, Vice President; Lori Frost, Secretary; Shawn Arrants, Treasurer; Trudi Thompson, Student Council; and Peggy Douglass, News Reporter.

H- Club

H-Club sponsored the concession stand during several home tournaments as a ways and means project. The H-Club used some of the money traveling to Lincoln to watch one of this year's university football games, Nebraska vs. Oklahoma. This year's officers were: Mick Connealy - President, Jerry Davis - Vice President, Wayne Wright - Secretary, Bruce Brennemann - Treasurer, Jason Funk - Student Council, and Mick Downing - News Reporter.

Without a doubt, Hyannis High's band provided a prime example of teamwork during the year. Band members worked very hard together, practicing everyday, working in the concession stand, selling jewelry and learning field marches. The HHS marching band was directed by freshman, Eileen Boots who attended a camp in the summer. In the fall, the band traveled to Sidney, Nebraska to compete in parade and field competition. After a great performance they received a superior in both events. During basketball season, band members would support the team and entertain fans with old favorite tunes and some new ones. One of the big events that happened this year was preparing for and finally attending the Kansas City trip. Band members work for three years in order to make this trip possible.

A Busy Chorus

It could definitely be said that the HHS choir was busy this year. They performed in many concerts, competed on several contests, and a few members were selected to participate in honor choirs. Wayne Boots was selected for All-State Choir. Wayne, Mitzi Ring, and Clay Rothwell participated in the High Plains Chorus, performing in Chadron. Swing Choir was also kept on their toes during the year learning new choreography to "jazz" up their hoppin tunes.

H.S. Football

Although the Hyannis football team had a final season record of 1-8 the athletes learned many valuable lessons while on the playing field. The biggest lesson - Never give up! This lesson was proven by the remarkable stats that these young men accumulated throughout the season. Jay Herman rushed for an average of 4.85 yards per carry on 226 carries for a total of 1,098 yards. David Dyer led the passing game for the Longhorns with 14 of 25 completed passes for 170 yards. David Dubs, Mick Connealy and Terry Connealy each were credited with one pass interception during the season. Mick Connealy led the team with 119 tackles. Earning letters were: Seniors David Dubs, Mick Connealy, Jerry Davis, Galen Young, Wayne Wright, Juniors Eric Young, Jason Funk, Mick Downing, Ted Garner, Clay Rothwell, Bruce Brennemann, Steve Walters, Sophomores Jay Herman, Terry Connealy, and Freshman David Dyer. Mick Connealy was selected to the Omaha World Herald All-State Honorable Mention team in class D-1.

H.S. Volleyball

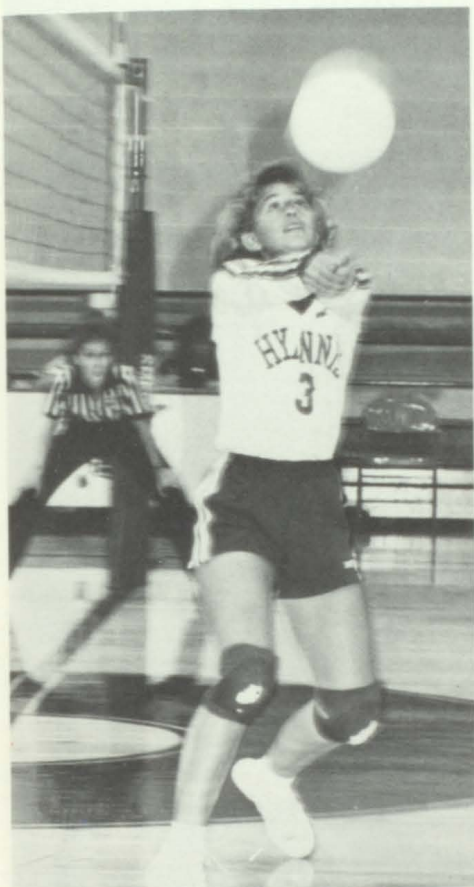

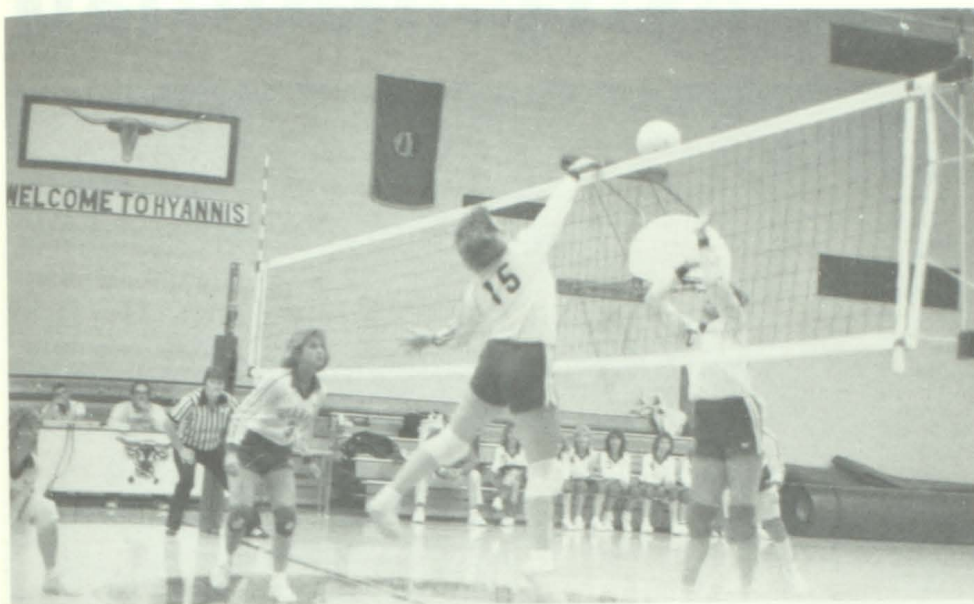

Kendra shows her excellent setting form, one of which was used many times during the season.

The 1987 HHS Volleyball team faced a trying and tough season. One of their toughest played games was against Hemingford with three sets. Hemingford won the first set with a score of 5-15. Then the Lady Longhorns, fought back in the second set being down by six points and ending up with a 17-15 win. But the HHS team was not so fortunate in the third set, Hemingford won 7-15. "I think we played very aggressive in the second set but we lost the intensity in the third that we needed the most to pull off the win," stated senior Kristi White. Although the team's final record was 5-11, the Lady Longhorns pulled off a few wins with team determination. Those receiving honors in Sandhills Conference were, first team, Kristi White and Peggy Douglass, and honorable mention, Bridget Bullington.

The junior high football season was quite short this year. The young team had only one game against Minatare. The other games were forfeited by the opposing teams due to a lack of players. Robert Dyer made the only touchdown for the Longhorns. The game was a learning experience for the seventh graders. Since there were so few games, they spent much of their time in practices scrimmaging to gain experience for next year.

Many of the younger members gained a lot of skills and showed improvement through the season. The younger members of the team will really help out through the years and gain more experience. The HHS Grapplers took the 87-88 season to the mats. With the help of Gary Hoyt, who has been coaching Federation Wrestling for a number of years, and Kent Frost the grapplers improved their wrestling knowledge and experience. Gary feels, "That this was a year for rebuilding the HHS grapplers, and that next year they will show it." They learned a lot of great tips from Mr. Hoyt and Mr. Frost that will come in handy for the future. David Dubs went to state this year. Kent Frost feels that, "The team in itself showed a lot of improvement even though they were a young team, they never got discouraged. David showed a lot of promise for the team by qualifying for state." The mat men of Hyannis may not all have been qualifiers for state, but in the next few years at HHS, we will be seeing a few more trophies and metals for the guys.

Homecoming '87

School spirit was contagious as both students and teachers celebrated homecoming week. Depending on the day, students could be seen dressed for a certain career, in sleeping attire, as a true cornhusker fan, as a greek toga god, or in the ever popular blue and white school colors. On Thursday night the booster club sponsored a pizza supper and bonfire that really psyched the students and players up for the football and volleyball games the following evening. Friday, each class spent their time decorating a designated area of the school halls. Winners of the hall decorations were: senior high division - freshman class; junior high division - seventh grade. Following the volleyball teams victory and the football teams loss to Thedford, the royalty was presented. Mick Connealy and Kristi White were crowned king and queen. Attendants were Peggy Douglass, David Dubs, Margie Lage, and Jerry Davis. The homecoming festivities ended with a dance which provided an opportunity for students and alumni to get together.

Speech and Drama does not just consist of standing in front of people and saying some rehearsed lines. It's movement, a form of expression, everyone needs to communicate, to be understood and to understand others. "Successful communication begins with yourself," said Mitzi Ring, Speech and Drama student. The thirty-three members in Speech Club and ten members in Drama spent many hours learning how to express themselves creatively. This year the Drama team gave it their best shot with their zany one-act play "The Airplane." After winning both Sandhills Conference and District one-act play contest the team traveled to Grand Island for State competition.

The Final Chapter

After teaching at Hyannis for twenty-four years Mr. Gary Naylor has resigned. He plans to pursue a career in the opera with the Lyric Opera Company. He will be dearly missed by all. Naylor during those twenty-four years at Hyannis has taught chorus, band, and drama. He began teaching here in 1964, as a music teacher for both elementary and high school students. Naylor is known throughout the state for his superior band, chorus, and drama programs as well as, annual spring musicals. Some of his favorite musicals include, "Hello Dolly", "Finian's Rainbow", "Coolest Cat In Town", and the 1988 production of "Trixie True, Teen Detective". "Hello Dolly" was the toughest play to produce due to its large set and cast. His favorite drama productions include, "The Minor Incident," and "The Tower". Comedies include "The Pretentious Ladies," and this years "The Airplane".

"Trixie True, Teen Detective," is a play about America's foremost amateur sleuth. Lori Frost starred in Helen Hathaway's mystery, "The Secret of the Tapping Shoes." The case involved two spies, Madame Matahari (Dia Lacy) and Gung Do (Derek Merrihew), who are sending top secret information across enemy borders. Joe Sneed (Wayne Boots) is the man behind the typewriter with his partner Al (Jerry Davis). Their boss Miss Snood (Bridget Bullington) is a brisk, efficient business tycoon, who thinks everything should be perfect, until the end when she realizes her feelings for Joe Sneed, and makes him the new president of Snood Publishings. But is it too late for Joe? He had wanted to put an end to Trixie, her two chums, Laverne (Mitzi Ring) and Maxine (Eileen Boots), Bobby (Wayne Wright), and Trixie's boyfriend Dick Dickerson (Clay Rothwell). Now he has to save them all.

Sweetheart

Sweetheart 1988 was definitely a time of celebration. It was a funfilled night for everyone who attended. The 1987 royalty, King Scott Davis and Queen Mardee Downing highlighted the festivities, by crowning this years' royalty, King David Dubs and Queen Lisa Crouse. Their attendants were Kristi White, Vess Reynoldson and Mick Connealy. Jack Bullington, knights of the Turntable, played the theme song "Is This Love" during the coronation. The gym was decorated with an assortment of rainbow colored streamers and balloons.

Into The Night

Juniors, seniors, faculty, and administration members ventured "Into the Night" to begin the 1988 Junior-Senior Prom. The banquet at 6:30 set the stage for the entire evening. Wills and Prophecies were read by Juniors Lori Frost, Mick Downing, Mitzi Ring, and Ted Garner. Headway provided the music as students danced the night away. Immediately following the Prom the students headed for Beach Party '88. Hyannis began a new tradition with its first "After Prom Party". The Winters' Building was decorated in a beach party fashion right down to the palm trees, water and seashells. The event was sponsored by Epsilon Kappa Sorority was a big success. "I loved it and hope they have it again next year," stated Mitzi Ring. As students checked in to this chemical free party were given play money to be used in casino and carnival games. At the end of the evening or should we say "early in the morning" money was turned in for tickets, then numbers were drawn for the prizes.

Graduation Day

Valedictorian, Kristi White speaks at Commencement.

Seniors Wayne Wright and Margie Lage tied grade point averages to make them Co-Salutatorians.

May 15, 1988

You are standing in your cap and gown, trying to get used to your appearance in the mirror. Your stomach is filled with a multitude of butterflies. It's graduation time. That special time of year filled with excitement, anticipation, curiosity, and even a little sadness. This day marks a whole new beginning. Graduating means saying goodbye to childhood friends, packing up all the great memories of high school and storing them comfortably deep inside your heart. Along those same lines comes the thought that you will soon be leaving home and finding a style all your own. A million questions race through your mind ... Will I be successful, will I make new friends? You look around and notice that all your classmates seem to be wrestling with their own minds too. Suddenly the time has come. It feels strange to be sitting there in front of all those people. It is as if you are looking at the auditorium for the last time. Now your name is called. It is time to receive your diploma. Your moment comes when the diploma is placed in your hand and you chance a look out into the audience and catch the eyes of your proud parents. This is an achievement to be treasured for a lifetime. Then you realize that above all the uncertainty there remains the fact that, yes, you have completed one of the many stages of your life. Now it's time to move on to something bigger and better. Now you turn around and walk back to your seat. You look back just once, and understand that it has been worth it all.

Mr. Dick Kimbrough gives the Commencement Address. Counselor Susan Sickelka hugs Kristi White during the presentation of the Abbott Bank Scholarship.
