Scenes below and across these pages show the nearly endless range of activity and mood available in our Sandhills communities and HHS. We know how to have fun while we share good times and hard work!

In LONGHORN 2006, we celebrate the diversity of Hyannis High School! You may smile when you read this because how can a small school with a student body of less than 70 contain a wide range of personalities and interests? Just look through the pages of this yearbook, and you will see that it is true. It begins with the amiable warmth of Abbey and goes all the way to the wacky zaniness of Zac! Come along with us and see if you don't agree that we have it all...from A to Z!

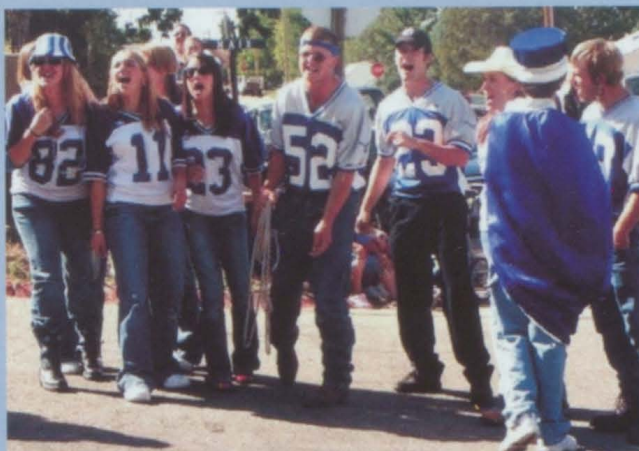

TOP: Zac Keller and Abbey Shaffer trade crowns to pose as truly unique royalty, and the traditional Homecoming H blazes brilliantly on coronation night. MIDDLE: In Longhorn costume, Tel Mack rouses the town's spirit during the parade. LEFT: This bevy of prom beauties may be attired in elegant gowns, but they can still do the bunny hop with the best of them!

Hyannis High School may be small, but we still have it all!

from A to Z!*

CLOCKWISE: The Class of 2006 perfectly illustrates that a large group is not necessary to be richly fun and unusual. Marcee Keslar and Erin Dyer celebrate placing first in the state speech meet. The seniors reign supreme at the Homecoming Pep Rally. Beautifully gowned junior and senior girls make a springtime rainbow at Prom.

Just take a look, and you will see for yourself --Hyannis High School has it all ... from A to Z!

We may be small, but we certainly have it all as far as people go. Just walk through the halls of Hyannis High and you will meet all types...shy, extroverted, artistic, athletic, leading, following, hard-working, loud-talking, spiritual, intellectual, creative, fun-loving. Yes, we have them all...from A to Z!

PEOPLE

From A to Z, there is a rich diversity of people of all ages and outlooks that make Hyannis High more than your run-of-the mill educational institution.

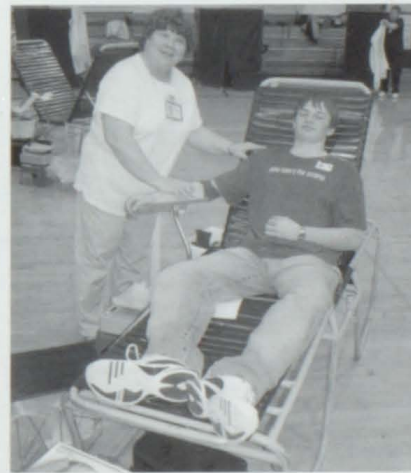

Students from grades 7 through 12 hang out with each other in the halls of Hyannis High!

American Education Week served as a chance to recognize the contribution of substitute teachers, support staff, and especially grandparents in their support of the education Hyannis High's young people by treating them to coffee and luncheons at the school.

Adults and students mingle at lunchtime and HHS athletic events, and the community is always welcome in our school as during the annual blood drives.

Valedictorian

"Don't measure yourself by what you have accomplished, but by what you should have accomplished with your ability." -John Wooden

And what are you doing. . .

Class of 2006 Plans for Future with the rest of your life?

Abbey Shaffer will begin work on a degree in business at Fort Scott Community College in Kansas this fall. Abbey will compete on the volleyball team at FSCC where her brother Will also attends.

Registered at the Nebraska College of Technical Agriculture in Curtis is Adam Altmaier. Adam plans to study Ag Business there.

Entering University of Nebraska at Kearney this fall is Ashley Lintt. Ashley's major is currently undecided, but she has considered business as a possible course of study.

Math whiz Erin Dyer has matriculated at the University of Nebraska at Omaha where she will study engineering. She has also considered pursuing a minor in music at UNO.

Valedictorian Marcee Keslar intends to begin a program of study in public relations with an emphasis on sports management at the University of Nebraska at Lincoln this fall.

Going far away from home

Togetherness and a playful sense of fun have always been strong features of the Class of 2006 as you can see in these images of their senior year.

ABOVE: A frequent sight during the year, Kris and Adam hanging out at the computers. The friends often helped each other write papers and complete online assignments.

BELOW: Spring fever and senioritis were definitely hitting by the time Erin, Abbey and Betsy stretched out for a giggling fit in the library.

LEFT: Showing the close friendship that characterizes the Class of 2006, Homecoming attendants Ashley and Hope join in a group hug with King Zac and Queen Abbey in front of the burning H the night before the big games.

What does the future have in store for you?

Staying close to home

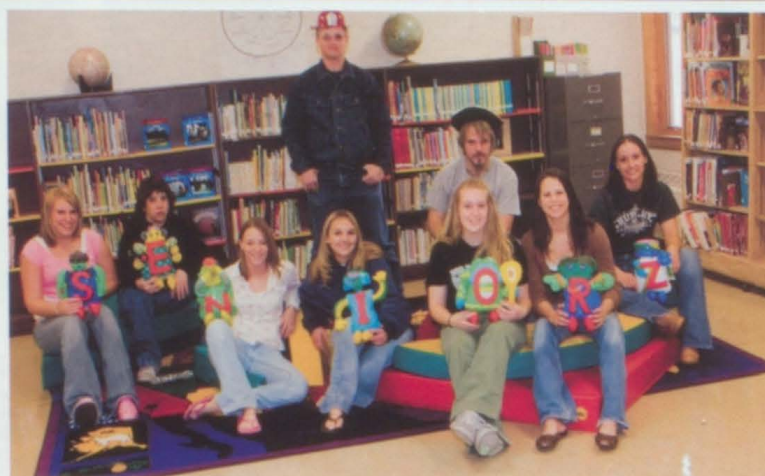

Following high school, Betsy Wright has decided to begin work on a degree in psychology at MidPlains Community College in North Platte.

Salutatorian Hope Dubs will continue her educational career at Chadron State College where she will major in nursing and study music.

Class of 2006 graduate Kris Hyde intends to remain in Hyannis helping his mother Rhonda run the ranch left to them by his father, the late Bill Hyde.

Enrolled at Western Nebraska Community College in Scottsbluff is Zac Keller. Zac plans to study Auto Design beginning in the 2006-2007 school year.

Whether hanging out in the Commons after lunch, making money to put on a fabulous prom or going incognito behind shades, life at HHS runs the gambit...from A to Z!

Whether freaking out, styling out, or just hanging out with friends, we always have fun!

Best friends and caring instructors make special events like Homecoming and Prom all the more special!

Oh, yeah, there are times we look at this place as a prison. Still, when you look at the whole experience from A to Z...HHS is a neat place to be.

After all the hard work, decorating for Prom and practicing for athletics are worthwhile in the end because we have so much fun being together with our friends.

HYANNIS HIGH BOARD, ADMINISTRATION & FACULTY

HYANNIS HIGH SCHOOL BOARD OF EDUCATION

Front: Andy Applegarth, secretary; Chris Gentry, Leonard Adam, president. Back: Ted Ferguson, Lisa Jamison, vice-president, and Al Davis, treasurer.

Mrs. Sandy Yorges

District Bookkeeper and Secretary

Mr. Scott Anderson

Teaching for the twelfth year in his hometown and marking his twentieth year in education is Mr. Scott Anderson. Besides teaching most of the math courses at Hyannis High, he serves as technology coordinator, coaches golf, and teaches a class in computer programming. Mr. Anderson received his Bachelor of Science degree in education from the University of Nebraska in Lincoln but also has taken graduate classes from UN-Kearney and Chadron State College. Before coming to HHS, Mr. Anderson taught at Cody-Kilgore and Maxwell. His motto is the perfect one for a math instructor, "The best angle from which to approach any problem is the try-angle."

Mr. Andrew Belsky

Mr. Andrew Belsky served his second year as Hyannis High's physical education and health teacher and his second year in education this year. In addition to his teaching responsibilities, the Dodge native was Head Boys Basketball, Track and Boys Junior High Sports Coach as well as Sophomore Class Sponsor. He student taught at Lincoln North Star High School before graduating from the University of Nebraska at Lincoln with a Bachelor of Science in Education. Mr. Belsky's favorite quotation is from John Wooden, "Be more concerned with your character than with your reputation. Character is what you really are, reputation is what you are perceived to be."

Mr. Mike Davis

In his third year at the helm of Hyannis High School and the five area elementary schools, Mr. Mike Davis also marked his thirtieth year in the field of education during the 2005-2006 school year. In addition to his superintendent duties, Mr. Davis is principal at Hyannis Elementary School. He also teaches seventh and eighth grade agriculture and sponsors junior high high FFA at HHS. A native of Gordon, Mr. Davis began his college career at Chadron State College, obtaining his Bachelor of Science in Agriculture Education there. He went on to earn his M.S. in agriculture at UNL before returning to CSC to obtain his masters and specialist degree in school administration. Before coming to Hyannis, Mr. Davis served for 27 years as vocational agriculture teacher in Chappell.

Mr. Dennis Wilbur

Principal and Athletic Director for his second year at Hyannis High, Mr. Dennis Wilbur also marked his thirtieth year in education during the 2005-2006 school year. A native of Albert City, Iowa, Mr. Wilbur earned both his Bachelor and Masters of Arts in Education degrees at Wayne State College. He taught and coached for two years at West Sioux High School in Hawarden, Iowa before teaching and later serving as administrator in Nebraska at Lincoln-Curtis-Medicine Valley, Wakefield, Diller, Louisville and the Omaha Public Schools. In addition to his administrative duties at HHS, Mr. Wilbur teaches Pre-Algebra to the eighth graders. When not busy with school responsibilities, he enjoys gardening, sports, travel and grandchildren.

Mrs. Ann Cole Chesley

A graduate of Hyannis High School and a native of Merriman, Mrs. Ann Cole Chesley returned to her home area for her fourth year in the teaching profession. Previously Mrs. Chesley taught in Crawford and Oelrichs, South Dakota. This year she has been the Band, Choir and junior high Music teacher as well as guidance counselor at HHS. Mrs. Chesley received her Bachelor of Arts in K-12 Music from Eastern Wyoming College and Chadron State College and is currently working on a Master of Science degree in counseling from CSC. She counts research as her favorite hobby, and Mrs. C's favorite saying is "Attitude is everything."

Mr. Craig Anthony

Hailing from Ansley, Mr. Craig Anthony directed high school vocational agriculture classes in his first year at HHS. Recipient of Bachelor and Master of Science degrees from the University of Nebraska at Lincoln, Mr. Anthony had taught at high schools in Cody-Kilgore, Wheatland and Valentine for a total of 15 years before coming to Hyannis. He presided over classes in Speech/Leadership, Ag Mechanics, Computer Applications, Natural Resources/Animal science and Ranch Management during the 2005-2006 year. His extracurricular duties included FFA and assistant coach of the football team which might explain why his personal motto is "If you get knocked down, get up and try again." Away from school Mr. Anthony spends his time on cows, horses and two grandchildren.

Mrs. Mabel Boots

Retiring this year after 36 years in the teaching profession is Mrs. Mabel Boots. Mrs. Boots has supervised the special education classes at Hyannis High school for the last three years but has been employed by Education Service Unit 16 for 27 years. A native of Dunning, she taught in Martin, S.D. and Sutherland before serving as K-12 resource teacher at HHS and elementary schools in Ashby, Hyannis, Redmill and Whitman. Mrs. Boots earned her B.A. in Elementary Education from Huron College in S.D. before beginning her career as a teacher. Later she received her M.A. in Elementary Education from Kearney State College and her Special Education endorsement in the next two years. After this year, Mrs. B. will have more time to pursue her hobbies of attending and videotaping her children's rodeo events and decorating cakes.

HYANNIS HIGH FACULTY & STAFF

Mrs. Joy Brown

A 27-year veteran of teaching, Mrs. Joy Brown has taught her entire career at HHS after student teaching in Alliance. She serves as a one-person science department, teaching everything from junior high science classes to chemistry. Her extracurricular duties include coaching the junior high Volleyball and Girls' Track teams, assisting with high school Track and sponsoring HAFA. A Chadron native, Mrs. Brown earned both her Bachelor and Master of Science degrees from CSC. She also has taken graduate courses at Nebraska Wesleyan, UNL, and UNK. Mrs. Brown's favorite quotation comes from Brooker T. Washington, "Success is not to be measured so much by the status one has obtained but rather by the obstacles one has overcome while trying to succeed."

Mrs. Marina Garner

Guiding English classes in her twenty-sixth year at Hyannis High School is Mrs. Marina Garner. A native of Alliance, Mrs. G. earned a Bachelor of Arts in Education degree at Chadron State College and taught at Bennet County High School in South Dakota for two years before coming to HHS. In addition to teaching nearly all levels of English, junior high through juniors, Mrs. Garner is sponsor of Student Council and the Cheerleaders. The adage she considers her favorite is "Good listeners are not only popular, but afterwards they know something." Mrs. Garner loves to read, cook and fish when she's not teaching school or taking graduate classes.

Mrs. Janet Johnson

In her first year as librarian and teacher of journalism and advanced computer at HHS, Mrs. Janet Johnson marked her twenty-ninth year in education. A native of Chappell, Mrs. J. attended Kearney State College (now UNK) and earned a Bachelor of Arts in Education degree before taking her first teaching position in Norfolk. Since then she has taught in seven Nebraska school systems as far east as Lincoln and as far west as Scottsbluff. Mrs. Johnson received a Master of Science in library information management degree from Emporia State University and served as a media specialist in Torrington, Wyoming for two years before coming to Hyannis High. In addition to advising the newspaper and yearbook, Mrs. Johnson directed the Spring Play this year.

Mrs. Lynell Stillwell

In her thirteenth year at HHS, Mrs. Lynell Stillwell has served nearly half of her 27 year years in education here. Before coming to Hyannis, the Gordan native taught at Scottsbluff High School, Highland School and Cody-Kilgore High School. Mrs. Stillwell holds a Bachelor of Science in Education from Chadron State College and is currently working on a Master of Science from the University of Nebraska at Kearney in reading. Mrs. S. teaches Humanities, English IV, Family and Consumer Science, Title 1 and Reading. In addition, Mrs. Stillwell is sponsor for the Junior Class and coaches the Academic Decathlon and Quiz Bowl teams. When not busy with school, she enjoys cooking, gardening, traveling and playing with her grandchildren.

Mr. Dave Chatelain

Hailing from Auburn, Mr. Chatelain has been the social studies teacher at Hyannis High for four years. He received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Peru State College and taught in Ainsworth, Elk Creek, Bradshaw, and Rushville before coming to Hyannis. The 2005-2006 school year marks Mr. Chatelain's twentieth year in the education profession. In addition to teaching American History, Psychology & Sociology, Geography, American Government, and World History, he has served as Head Coach for the Volleyball and Girls Basketball--high school and junior high--teams. Students in Mr. Chatelain's classes can attest to the truth of his slogan, "Hard work and plenty of it!"

Mr. Craig Hoyt

The 2005-2006 school year is Mr. Kyle Hoyt's third year for directing the art classes at Hyannis High. The Mullen native attended Chadron State College where he received a Bachelor's degree in Art Education and started his career at HHS. In addition to teaching art classes, Interactive Media and 3-D Art, Mr. Hoyt sponsors H-Club and coaches the Football and Wrestling Teams--both varsity and junior high. His motto's include "That's push-ups!", "You can sleep when you're dead," and "Never settle." When away from his teaching and coaching responsibilities, Mr. Hoyt enjoys movies and music, playing guitar, reading, making pottery and working on the house.

Mrs. Cindy Keller

Hailing from nearby Rushville, Mrs. Keller has taught at Hyannis High for 22 of her 23 years in education. After graduating from Chadron State College, she taught at McPherson County for one year. Mrs. Keller holds both Bachelor and Master of Science degrees from CSC. She teaches Math 7, Consumer Math and Algebra 1 as well as Accounting 1 and 2, Keyboarding 7 and 8, and Introduction to Business. In addition to her teaching responsibilities, Mrs. Keller is sponsor for the Class of 2006 and the National Honor Society. Mrs. Keller's motto is "Where there is a will, there is a way!" Mrs. Keller enjoys working sadoku puzzles, reading, working outdoors, and playing with her new granddaughter when she is not busy with school activities.

Most of us are anxious to get away from our little communities in the Sandhills and discover all there is waiting for us out in that big world. However, when we take a truly balanced, honest view of our HHS experience, we have to admit there is a lot to enjoy right here from homecoming celebrations, banquets, dances, and prom, leading right up to graduation. Yes, we may be small, but we still have it all...from A to Z!

STUDENT WORLD

Like we have said before, a student's world at Hyannis High has a little bit of everything...from A to Z. FAR LEFT: Mitch Foreman returned to see his former classmates graduate.

MIDDLE: In the midst of Homecoming festivities, Ashley keeps her priorities and AR books in hand. BELOW: Marcee enjoys her time in the spotlight in the One Act play.

Homecoming 2005

King Zac Keller and Queen Abbey Shaffer reigned over Homecoming 2005 at Hyannis High on September 23. "Welcome to the Jungle" was the theme of the week's festivities culminating in the games against the Sandhills Panthers referred to as the "Rumble in the Jungle." Besides the typical Student Council-sponsored events of pep rally, bonfire, speeches, parade, scavenger hunts and locker decorating, the athletes enjoyed a pizza feed hosted by the Booster Club and all HHS students and faculty enjoyed a week of dress-up days:

HOMEcoming WEEK

MONDAY School is a Prison Day
TUESDAY Favorite Movie Character Day
WEDNESDAY Glam (Glamour) Day
THURSDAY Punk Rocker Day
FRIDAY Blue & White Hat and Candy Day

ABOVE: Abbey Shaffer, the daughter of Craig and Nancy Shaffer, and Zac Keller, the son of Willis and Ardith Keller were the 2005 Homecoming Royalty.

ABOVE: The eighth graders proudly march with their wagon that had an actual side of beef on a spit with the sign proclaiming what the Longhorns should do with the Panthers: "Eat 'em for dinner!"

BELOW: Mrs. Keller appears to be having a great time on Hat Day. Mrs. Chesley and Kristen Burgess really got into the spirit of Punk Rocker Day. Joe Julius, affectionately known as "Beefy" by his teammates, seems pretty mellow on game day. Erin Dyer wore camouflage to be a Punk Rocker.

Sweetheart Dance

Queen Megan Adams and King Adam Altmaier were crowned at the FFA Sweetheart Dance on February 4. Pink and red hearts adorned the stage of the Lecture Hall as a small crowd of students participated in the full range of dancing from line to swing as well as listening to a mix of popular and country music styles provided by Complete Music of Kearney. The disc jockey served as master of ceremonies for the event and led the dancers in various contests and games.

RIGHT: Sweetheart royalty Megan Adams, granddaughter of Leroy and Delores Evans, and Adam Altmaier, son of Jay and Pam Altmaier, pose in their FFA jackets.

Silver and gold stars, moons, and other celestial features along with black and white balloons, wall hangings, and streamers adorned Hyannis High School for Prom 2006. Reigning supreme over the scene were Queen Hope Dubs, daughter of Troy and Tammy Dubs of Ashby, and King Kris Hyde, son of Rhonda Hyde and the late Bill Hyde of Hyannis. The evening's festivities began in the commons with a meal prepared by the Junior Class mothers. The Class of 2006 Prophecy was then read by Junior Class President Tarry Stevens and Secretary Devan Frey. Senior Class President Erin Dyer and Marcee Keslar read the Class Wills. The Lecture Hall served as the setting for the Prom Coronation, Grand March, and group photos of the Classes of 2006 and 2007. The Driving Dynamics provided live music for the dance.

Attending the royal couple are Erin Dyer, daughter of Doug Dyer of Hyannis and Shannon Dyer of Boulder, and Ashley Lintt, daughter of Terri Lintt of Hyannis and Scott Lintt of Whiteclay.

Graduation Day

The Class of 2006 with family, friends and faculty celebrated their graduation from Hyannis High School with a commencement ceremony held on Saturday, May 6 in the Lecture Hall followed by a reception in the high school gymnasium. Valedictorian Marcee Keslar elicited laughter and moments of reflection in her speech. Marcee recalled that her class had always kept the administration "on their toes" by challenging the rules such as "fighting for the right to 'bare' our toes," and recommended that her classmates continue "to challenge the norms," but in the future probably regarding more important matters in society. "In our minds we hold the memories and in our hands we hold the future," was the quotation used to open Salutatorian Hope Dubs' speech. Even though they are the future, Hope also reassured her class that they shouldn't be worried if they are not "absolutely sure" about what they are going to do with the rest of their lives right at this moment, stating that most of the audience members did not know what they were going to do in the future on their graduation day.

BELOW LEFT: Marcee Keslar encouraged her fellow graduates to discover all they can, stating, "There is so much waiting for us out in the world..." BELOW: Hope Dubs referred to graduation as "the end of the beginning," but told her classmates they should take comfort in remembering that "There will always be the nine of us that have stuck with each other through the good and the bad."

For our small student population, we have a rich variety of groups sponsored by highly skilled, caring instructors who are always willing to go the extra mile to see that we get all we can out of every activity. Best of all, since we have such a small school, Hyannis High allows students to get plenty of opportunities to participate fully and take even leadership roles if desired. Yes, we have said it before, but we will say it again, we may be small, but we have it all...from A to Z!

Junior high participates successfully in agriculture

In early April, the twelve eighth grade members of the Hyannis junior high FFA were able to travel to Lincoln for a special field trip with their sponsor Mr. Mike Davis and parent sponsor Mrs. Kendra Hampton. During the three days, the group attended sessions of the state FFA Convention, visited the Unicameral and toured the agriculture school at UNL, Memorial Stadium and Tom Osborne Field. On the way home, they visited the Great Platte River Road Archway in Kearney.

ABOVE: Mother attempts to reason with Jessie's artistic and somewhat eccentric father. RIGHT: Jessie and Michael mime eating the pie she has baked for her boyfriend. Although she loves him, Jessie is determined to seek an exciting life in NYC.

ABOVE TOP: Abbey Shaffer, in the role of Mother, listens to young Jessie talk excitedly about her plans for the future and attempts to pass on her old world advice regarding a young woman's place in society. ABOVE: Marcee Keslar as the young Jessie, the central character of the play, muses out loud as her close friend Michael, played by Joe Julius waits outside for her. The two friends become high school sweethearts as they mature, but after her father's death, Jessie decides to go to New York City to pursue her future in the art world rather than staying in her hometown and making a life with Michael. The play focuses on Jessie as a grown woman returning to her hometown after her mother's death to sell the home of her childhood. As Jessie's close friend Margaret, portrayed by Hazy Nielson, goes into the village to see the reactor, Jessie remembers her life in her childhood home. The action of the play involves the grown Jessie played by Erin Dyer observing her younger self in scenes from the past with those she loved.

BELOW TOP and BELOW MIDDLE: The major influences of Jessie's young life offer their diverse advice to her. First, she strolls with her mother listening to her gentle lecture on life and then she listens to her father's advice about an artist's need for creativity and individualism.

LEFT: The adult Jessie witnesses the gentle lecturing of her loving and well-meaning mother to her younger self. It is a bittersweet experience for her to relive making such painful decisions about the course of her future because now, in "The White Room of My Remembering," she fully comprehends all that she gained and all that she sacrificed in that long ago time. Abbey Shaffer won an Outstanding Performance award for her role as Jessie's mother at Districts. BELOW LEFT: Especially painful for the adult Jessie to see is the tender, selfless love that young Michael had offered her back then.

ABOVE: Through the mature understanding of adulthood, Jessie can finally realize that the flamboyant father that she had idolized was not entirely perfect and that her conventional, seemingly unremarkable mother possessed exceptional and admirable qualities to be able to cope with such an eccentric though lovable husband.

ABOVE: A largely undecorated set including no props allowed the audience to concentrate on the relationships between the characters and the play's dialogue.

LEFT: The cast bows at the close of their performance of "The White Room of My Remembering" to the hometown audience. During the one act season, the team placed second at Sandhills Conference, a very disappointing third at Panhandle Conference, and then, before competing at districts, experienced "almost an epiphany" according to their director, Mrs. Jeanne Gentry, "blossoming" into true actors and champions. In Mrs. Gentry's estimation, "the greatest thing" about their performance this season was that over half of the cast members had not been on stage before!

Marcee Keslar won Best Actress at both the Panhandle conference meet and districts and an Outstanding Performance award at state. Runner-up Best Actress award was presented to Erin Dyer at the first conference meet, and she earned Outstanding Performance awards at both districts and state.

The actors playing Jessie's father and sweetheart Michael, Jake Edelman and Joe Julius, were both awarded honorable mention credits at the Panhandle Conference and Outstanding Performance awards at the District contest.

SPEECH TEAM

Nearly entire team competes at state contest

Erin Dyer, Marcee Keslar win championship

A cutting from THE BAD SEED was the serious duet acting script used by Erin Dyer and Marcee Keslar in their championship triumph at the state contest in Kearney. In their performance, Marcee gave a chilling portrayal of young Rhonda Penmark and Erin was her mother who finally realizes that her seemingly perfect daughter is actually a serial killer. Marcee was also named state runner-up in serious prose for her rendition of "The Woman Who Walked into Doors." Erin also competed in Humorous Prose during the season with her speech entitled, "Weird People Living in Boulder, Colorado."

OID team, Kristen Burgess qualify for state

The OID (Oral Interpretation of Drama) Team, consisting of sophomore Jake Edelman and freshmen Kristen Burgess, Joe Julius and Hazy Nielson, qualified for state by placing second at districts for their humorous performance of three little pigs in "The Three Swine of Most Small Stature." In addition to qualifying in OID, Kristen Burgess was district champion in Extemporaneous Speaking and competed at state in the event as well as OID.

Although seniors Erin Dyer and Marcee Keslar will leave big shoes to be filled on the Speech Team next year, there appears to be abundant talent from the ranks of freshmen and sophomores for next year.

James Safarik reviews his Humorous Prose Speech script before his turn to compete in the Sandhills Conference speech meet hosted by Hyannis High School. James was one of four freshmen who expanded the ranks of speech team competitors this year.

Staff focuses on publishing THE SPOTLIGHT all year long

Early on, Mrs. Johnson realized that she got more concentrated effort from James if she allowed him to listen to music as he worked. Actually this photo was taken in the summer because James would certainly not be wearing a hat in school otherwise!

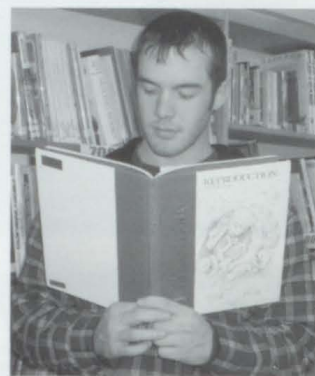

Second semester, Billy Craig wrote most of the boys' varsity sports stories as well as all the junior high sports. He spent a great deal of time interviewing coaches and gathering statistics.

Now that the month's issue has been "put to bed" as the journalism expression goes, upperclassmen staff members Mitch, Zac, Devan and Tarry take a much-deserved break.

Just about anyone who came into the library when we were getting ready to distribute nearly 700 copies of the paper was put to work. Here Brady Seidler and Jordan Dredla were supposed to be folding and delivering papers to the classrooms. Instead, they decided to fight over who got to use the satchel to deliver. Someone needs to tell Brady it is bright pink, and it would be more appropriate for Jordan to carry it!

Mitch Foreman took on the immense responsibility of football stories first semester. Here he does some special research for a feature.

Poor James is looking for a place to hide. Mrs. J is looking for him, and he can't bear to write another story!

From A To Z!

As members of the Web Design class, seniors Abbey Shaffer and Ashley Lintt were helpful in collecting photographs and graphic features for the yearbook. Madison Kistler is another web designer that contributed so much to the yearbook as well as the web pages.

Mystery allows viewers to play detective

A cast of fourteen performed sixteen parts in the audience interactive drama. Not only did two actors, Marcee Keslar and James Safarik, play two roles each, but eleven of the actors were underclassmen. ABOVE: Eighth graders Jamie Menuey as housekeeper Mrs. Trent, Alexis Anthony as Minerva Walker the cook, and Colby Myers as detective Mike Davis performed like stage veterans even though it was their first high school production. RIGHT: Candles are lit when the power goes out, and the household staff gathers to determine what is wrong just before the billionaire's murder is discovered.

Junior Jake Edelman and seniors Marcee Keslar and Erin Dyer provided onstage direction and mentoring for the younger cast members. ABOVE: Even backstage, Jeff Cover as the wise-cracking handyman Rufus Jones and Jake as the haughty, overbearing butler Bensonhurst remained in character. RIGHT: Mike Davis and Simon III joined forces to determine who had killed the college student's grandfather, Simon I.

Shantel Monahan as Kathy Collins, Simon I's personal assistant, clashed with the highly principled and outspoken housekeeper played by Jamie Menuey. Mrs. Trent strongly objected to Kathy's plan to be a surrogate mother to Simon I's clone.

FAR LEFT: Marcee Keslar in the role of Lois Van Zandt, the billionaire's lawyer, and Shantel as his personal assistant became allies in their quest to carry out his plan to hang on to his wealth forever by passing on his fortune to his clone. LEFT: The interplay between Fiona, Simon I's niece by marriage performed by Abbey Shaffer, and Jeff's wily but backwoods portrayal of Rufus added hilarity to the play.

Sharp exchanges between characters added interest to the play. Sparks flew between Marcee as maid Nancy and Hazy Nielson as the billionaire's stern Nurse Withers, Daniel Smith as Simon's playboy grandnephew and nearly every young female character and lawyer Van Zant and scheming relative Paula.

Sports is one of the areas where being a small school can create a problem in fielding a competitive team. However, one definite advantage to our school's smaller population is that most of us get plenty of playing time. Also, if you have the desire and take the initiative to become an athletic leader, Longhorn sports gives you the chance! We also have some athletic stand-outs making their way up through the junior high ranks, so HHS will definitely rise again! Hyannis High offers a full range of athletic activities to participate in, in and out of school. A number of our students are also involved in rodeo and trap shooting as well as the traditional interscholastic sports. So, as in other areas, we may be small, but we still have it all... from A to Z!

SPORTS

VOLLEYBALL

Despite a disappointing conclusion to the season, Coach Dave Chatelain was extremely pleased how his athletes have progressed during his four years as their coach. "None of us are satisfied with the way the district tournament played out. In retrospect, I am happy with the development of our volleyball program on the whole." The Lady Longhorns end with a 12-11 record following a loss to Cody-Kilgore in the sub-district tournament. After besting the Cowgirls in the first set by a wide margin, HHS fell in close matches to the team they had defeated in three previous meetings. The coach remains optimistic, "Our kids progressed all season and peaked in many ways by the end of the season." He added, "They like to play the game."

FOOTBALL

Early season injuries and a small male population at HHS undermined the prospects of the Longhorn Football Team this year. The team opened the season with 21 players including junior female player Rochelle Armstrong. Ty Staman's knee has prevented him from participating, and Scott Hebbert hurt his collar bone over the summer and was sidelined for the season. Early on, Kris Hyde was no longer able to compete due to a back ailment, and Scott Leth injured his collar bone in the first game against Leyton. The team included four seniors, ten juniors, one sophomore and six freshmen. Coach Kyle Hoyt relied on the leadership of seasoned players Mitch Foreman, Adam Altmaier and Scott Leth to improve the Longhorns' chances for playoff contention, but that opportunity never came to pass.

GIRLS VARSITY

BASKETBALL

Coming up short in size and depth prevented the Lady Longhorn basketball squad from performing as well as hoped during the 2006 season. Before the beginning of the season, Coach Dave Chatelain was looking forward to an improvement over the Hyannis girls' -15 record from last year. Although he expected that the team's low numbers and the smaller size of his players might prove to be a problem, the return of so many veteran players gave the Hyannis High coach and the team's supporters reason for optimism. Even though the girls were unable to fulfill their potential as a team, three players received conference honors. Seniors Marcee Keslar and Abbey Shaffer and junior Devan Frey were named honorable mention All-Conference Team for the Sandhills conference.

BASKETBALL

After graduating his entire starting line-up from last year, Coach Andrew Belsky and his basketball team really had their work cut out for them this year. The only returning players from last year were Adam Altmaier, Kris Hyde, Zac Keller and Michael Wright. Add to this that there were only 11 players on the squad, and it's easy to see that the team's lack of depth as well as inexperience made the season an uphill struggle. The team goal Coach Belsky had set was to compete in every game, never to be outworked and to come together as a team for a successful season. The coach outlined his plans pre-season, "I want each player to become the best they can be. We can't be concerned with things we can't control like age, numbers and opponents. We need to concentrate on the fundamentals and be the best we can be."

WRESTLING

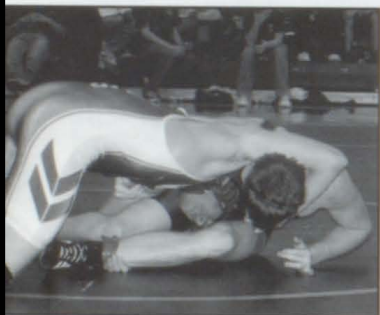

At the close of the wrestling season, Coach Kyle Hoyt stated that there was a lot of improvement in both skills and desire to win among the Hyannis High School wrestlers this season. He believes the Longhorn wrestlers should be very proud of their showing this year. Although none of the wrestlers qualified for state, a number put in outstanding efforts this season and show great promise as an experienced squad of wrestlers returning next year. Longhorns medaling this season follow: Tel-four, Casey and Kane-three each, Scott and Daniel-two each, and Tyrel and Brady won one medal each.

Jordan consistently scored points in the hurdles throughout the season but was just one place short of qualifying for state at Districts. ABOVE LEFT and RIGHT: Freshmen Dain Applegarth and Jake Schwanebeck gave it their all in the 4 x 400 relay. The underclassmen relay team, also consisting of Daniel Smith and Matthew Ferguson, did well at the Sandhills Conference Meet and came in sixth at Districts.

Veteran golfer leads young team

With only one experienced golfer on his squad, Coach Scott Anderson's goals for the team were to qualify senior Zac Keller for a third state competition and provide the other members with the opportunity "to learn the rules, improve their golf skills and have fun." In Memory of Mitch Foreman

With the military conflict and unrest in the world today, the students of Hyannis High School knew that the loss of one of our own was possible but no one expected to lose one of our classmates so early and so tragically. We will miss you, Mitch, and we will never forget you. Rest in peace.

Mitchell Paul Foreman
 Birth: February 5, 1988
 Death: June 12, 2006

From A To Z!

As we have said before, Hyannis High School has all types of people...from A to Z. Some of the individuals we are really going to miss next year are members of the Class of 2006. You surprised us, you inspired us, you made us laugh, and sometimes you made us cry! We will miss you and remember you always!

Your old stomping grounds just won't be the same without you!

THE LONGHORN 2006 Yearbook Staff would like to express our appreciation to a number of people who have helped us greatly in the production of this book--

Kim Foreman, Glenda Davis, Cassandra Anthony, Denise Boots, Carmen Keslar, LaRene Monahan, Madison Kistler, Mark Adamson, and so many others for their generous sharing of photographs and digital expertise. For their technical support, friendly advice and encouragement thanks to Ryan Heffner, our yearbook representative, and also Scott Anderson and Kyle Hoyt, our Hyannis High School technology experts. And lastly, but still importantly, thank you to Marian Downing for patiently adjusting the summer cleaning schedule around our use of the computer room and library!

WILMA

October 24, 2005

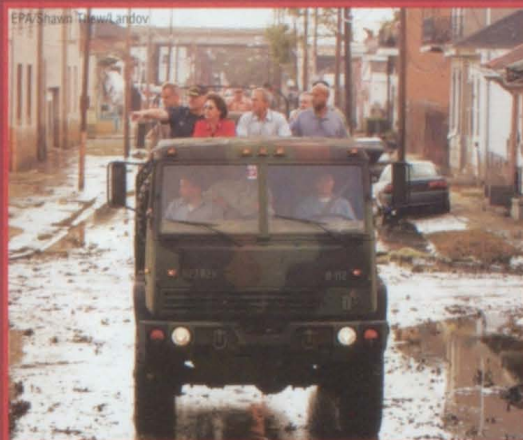

Hurricanes ravage the Gulf Coast region in the fall of 2005, posing an unprecedented test of the United States federal emergency response efforts. Hundreds of lives are lost and thousands are left homeless in the wake of Category 4 Hurricane Katrina, followed by Rita and Wilma. The tragedy spurs contributions of money, talents, homes, food and more in an attempt to raise spirits and rebuild the area.

- 25 Hurricane Katrina strikes Florida.
- 28 Mandatory evacuation of both New Orleans and Mississippi is ordered as Katrina becomes a Category 5 storm in the Gulf of Mexico.
- 29 Downgraded to a Category 4 storm, Katrina hits land. 1.3 million homes and businesses lose electricity in Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama. 30 levees are breached, flooding New Orleans and leaving 100,000 people stranded. After slow government response, civil unrest and looting begins.
- 31 President Bush surveys the damage.

- 1 30,000 National Guard troops are deployed. Gas prices spike to as high as $5 per gallon.
- 2 President Bush visits Louisiana and signs a $10.5 billion relief bill. Nearly 154,000 evacuees arrive in Texas.
- 4 The New Orleans Superdome is evacuated.
- 6 President Bush and Congress pledge to investigate the flawed disaster response.
- 9 Government-issued debit cards are distributed to evacuees. The program fails and is ended days later.
- 12 Michael Brown, head of the Federal Emergency Management Agency, resigns. Flooding is down to 50 percent in New Orleans.
- 14 New Orleans Mayor Ray Nagin announces a phased repopulation plan.
- 15 New Orleans begins to reopen. Katrina is named the most destructive hurricane in U.S. history.
- 20 Louisiana Governor Kathleen Blanco declares a state of emergency as Hurricane Rita strengthens off the coast.
- 22 Rita hits the Louisiana coast and heads for Texas.
- 23 Thousands evacuate eastern Texas and the 9th Ward of New Orleans floods once again after levees are overrun.

- 24 Hurricane Wilma hits southwest Florida.

Thousands of Louisiana evacuees receive shelter and medical care in the Astrodome in Houston, Texas.

Homes across the country are opened to families left homeless in the wake of Hurricane Katrina.

Thousands of volunteers help Habitat for Humanity rebuild homes in Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama.

Louisiana Governor Kathleen Blanco, President Bush and New Orleans Mayor Ray Nagin survey the damage in New Orleans.

Many animals left behind during evacuation are rescued and given shelter or reunited with their owners.

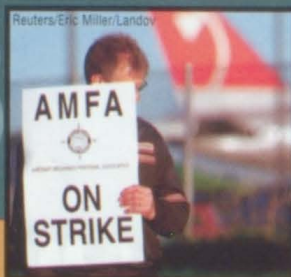

Three months after Katrina strikes, the first New Orleans public school reopens on November 28.
